Documentation Team report from 2019-05-17

The Documentation Team has been tackling issues with translation and the kind of support, key contact for questions, GitHub repository engagement, maintenance of a stable link and any maintenance information going forward. TS-EAS is not going to be giving translations a "stamp of approval" or vet the documentation. Guarantees of currency are not possible. There has also been some upkeep after the big SAA site restructuring. This includes some housekeeping activities around where to keep documentation on the site. This has given them the opportunity to re-think and re-approach how we are managing public documentation. Older documentation needs to be inventoried and provide some framing that is maintained as historical information. Questions about who has access to edit information on the site were raised. Additional coordination with the EAS Section regarding currency and information was mentioned.
